COACHING VS. OTHER DISCIPLINES

Coaching	Therapy	Mentoring	Consulting	Training
Future-focused and goal oriented. Aimed at understanding strengths, resources and barriers and designing strategies to accomplish goals.	Deals mostly with a person's past and trauma to seek healing	Deals mostly with succession and seeks to help someone do what you do	Deals mostly with problems and seeks to provide information/expertise to solve the problem	Deals with acquiring and integrating new knowledge
Equal Partnership between the Leader and the Coach where the Leader has the answers and the Coach assists in self-discovery.	Doctor/Patient Relationship where the Therapist has the answers	More Experience/Less Experience Relationship where the Mentor has the answers	Expert/Person with Problem Relationship where the Consultant has the answers	Teacher/Student Relationship where the Trainer has the answers
Assumes emotions are natural and normalizes them	Assumes emotions are a symptom of something wrong	is limited to emotional response of the mentoring parameters (succession, etc.)	Does not normally address or deal with emotions	Does not normally address or deal with emotions
Coach stands with Leader and assists him/her to identify challenges through self-awareness, and works with Leader to turn challenges into victories. Accountability to reach goals with Leader's hands	Therapist diagnoses, then provides professional expertise to provide a path to healing	Mentor allows client to observe behavior, offers advice, answers questions, provides guidance for the stated purpose of mentoring	Consultant stands back, evaluates a situation, then tells client what the problem is and how to fix it	Instructor designs lessons towards learning objectives based upon teacher knowledge and expertise, then presents lessons in a manner most conducive to students' learning
Asks questions like: • How can I help you in your own self-directed learning and awareness? • What have you tried? • How has that worked? • What are some other possibilities?	I know how to guide you. "What happened in the past that is inhibiting you from getting what you want out of life today?"	My experience is ... "This is how I did it"	I know how. This is what you are paying me to tell you. "This is how to do it"	I have this knowledge and am willing to transfer it to you

THE COACH'S ROLE

- Discover, clarify and align with what the Leader wants to achieve
- Encourage Leader's self-discovery
- Elicit Leader-generated solutions and strategies
- Hold the Leader responsible and accountable

9

A GOOD COACH DOES NOT NEED...

- ✗ To be right
- ✗ To be the expert
- ✗ To know the "right" answer
- ✗ To be in control
- ✗ To "fix it"
- ✗ To make it better

KEY COACHING SKILLS

- Active Listening
- Powerful Questions
- Self-Awareness
- C.I.G.A.R. Coaching Process Questions
 - Current Situation
 - Intention
 - Gap
 - Action
 - Review

11

ACTIVE LISTENING

- How are you focused on what the person is saying?
- How are you focused on what the person is NOT saying?
- What clues are you getting from their words, tone, and body language?

12

TYPES OF LISTENING

Types of Listening	Description
Disengaged	You hear what the other person is saying, but you are thinking about something else
Competitive	You are listening to reply and share your own experience
Combative	You are listening for flaws in what's being said and wait for an opportunity to point them out
Problem Solving	You are listening with the intention of fixing the other person's issue
Active Listening	You are listening with the intention of fully understanding what the person is experiencing

13

CONTEXT FOR LISTENING

- Consciously clear your mind
- Listen for the message not just the words (whisper)
- Don't interrupt or finish sentences
- Paraphrase so they know you understand
- Be comfortable with silence
- Listen without judgment
- 80/20
- WAIT (Why Am I talking?)

14

ACTIVE LISTENING IS NOT...

- To fix
- To get info you want
- To sound important
- External distractions
- Understand the problem
- Your own thoughts, not listening at all
- Opportunities to sound intelligent
- Chance to seem funny
- How you can benefit
- How you can help

16

POWERFUL QUESTIONS

- Are open-ended
 - Do not allow for one-word answers (yes/no)
 - Who, what, where, when, how (NOT Why)
- Are non-judgmental and non-leading
- Raise awareness of goals and reality
- Can be requests
 - "Tell me more about..."
- Lead to deeper questions and more expansive thinking
- Invite elaboration

17

Open-ended questions suggest that you can help, and you are asking for direction/specifics. Think:

- ✔ How can I help? = Open-ended
- ✔ What can I do to help? = Open-ended

Compare to close-ended questions:

- ✘ Can I help you? = "Yes/No"
- ✘ Do you need help? = "Yes/No"
- ✘ Let me know if I can help? = "Yes/No"

18

Closed vs. Open-Ended Questions

- Is teamwork important to you?
 - Yes, No, Maybe, Sometimes...
- What about teamwork is important to you?

19

SELF-AWARENESS

- What are your filters that influence how you hear what the person is saying?
- What stories are you telling yourself about what you are hearing? Seeing?
- What do you already know about this person?
- Nonjudgmental
- Don't give advice
